

Ten of Cups

Traditional meaning:

A real happiness that comes from within, a real connection that is deep and meaningful. It's about happy, positive emotion.

My Interpretation:

Wow, what a complex card full of all sorts of images. First, the central image is the two people communicating so clearly together. Their eyes are full on each other, they are interested in what each other has to say. They are close together.

And yet there's more. There is a whole crowd of others there too, watching, happy and contented. And there's even a rainbow, showing beauty and light and joy.

The overall image is a happy one, relaxed, contented.
