

Judgement

Traditional meaning:

This card is about meditation, self-evaluation, and realizing that you can set yourself on a new path. The world is before you and you can choose a better life. You can prepare to step out in that new direction.

My Interpretation:

It is a woman blowing the horn, which is elegant and ornate. The banner flying from it is of peace. The sun is breaking past the clouds, flowers are blooming at her feet, and she is calling those who appreciate her to come and share in this new wonderful day. She is decked in a lovely cloak with decorative feathers/shapes on it so she is nice and warm. Yes there is a mountain in front of her, but that's OK, the flowers are blooming and a new day is coming.

