

Page of Pentacles

Traditional meaning:

For some this is a card about wealth used for good purpose. It's about money being a means for achieving important goals.

For others this is about future projects in general. About planning and preparing for them and maintaining enthusiasm for them. About taking action to make those dreams into reality.

My Interpretation:

At first glance the character seems soft, perhaps lax with overindulgence.

But on closer look it is just the clothes which are thick, almost padded, to provide protection against the world. The hat is oversized and provides shade. The outfit is flowing and large.

His focus is on a large pentacle which is before him, half out of the frame. This is not just a "now" item – it extends into the future. He is attentive to it and also padded against danger. The swooping of this clothes draw it in to him, but also keep him safe.
