

King of Swords

Traditional meaning:

This is about intellectual power, staying steady and objective. It's about solving problems and using the facts. You have to be stern and fair at the same time. It's about consulting with experts and respecting their advice.

My Interpretation:

The King is looking steadfastly back, with his sword raised and ready, prepared to defend himself from an attacker. He has a sturdy helmet, a head covering with protective bosses, and a sturdy shield. He is not ostentatious, and he is not glorying in the battle. He will do what needs to be done. The world is cloudy and full of challenge. He will take it on.
